FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT

FRANKFORT, NOV. 12, 1892.

PHYSIOGNOMY.

How to Read Character in the Face. What the Eyes, Nose, Mouth and Chin Tell.

In selecting partners in business or in the matter of close friendship or wedded love it would be well to scan the features of the person to be selected and then try him or her by the rules of physiognomy, which every one, whether intending to do so or not, unconsciously employs in making up their first impressions of a stranger's face. The rules of physiognomy are the result of the observation and experience of the ages.

It may not be altogether just to judge entirely by the rules, for one prominent feature is sometimes so modified by other full or partly developed features that none but an expert physiognomist or phrenologist can tell the proportion of actuating power in each. Still there is no doubt that the characteristics of many people may be easily read in their faces. For instance, it may be set down as a rule that large bulging eyes denote great clearness and volubility, while small eyes, especially steel gray in color, indicate intelligence. Those who are in the habit of looking at you with a half shut eye, are also intelligent, but secretive while wishing to appear unobservant. Eyes slanting upward from the nose are those of a hypocrite and deceiver, and eyes slanting downward from the nose show cruelty and malevolence. Black eyes are snaky and not to be trusted, brown belong to the gazelle, are kind and honest and to be loved. The gray eye is generally selfish, but it will enforce respect. Blue eyes speak of tenderness and love and are to be adored. The mixed eye, of course, partakes of the nature of the form and colors of the eyes described.

A square heavy chin is generally seen on a person of great firmness and force of character. A pointed or receding chin belongs to one who is weak and irresolute. Dimples in the cheeks signify roguery and in the chin a fondness to flirt.

Merit and power are shown in a large nose and a small nose indicates good nature, but an absence of the energy and the force to be consistent and conservative in the affairs of life.

A perfectly straight nose is a sign of a pure and noble soul, and a Roman nose shows a propensity for adventure and conquest. The curved, thin nose may be found on those who have brilliant minds, but disposed to be vain and ironical. A turned-up nose signifies a weak, playful person, with more dash and enterprise than ability to execute.

Thick lips may mean either genius or stupidity; and thin lips, sharpness of temper, cruelty and avariciousness. If the lips are generally compressed, there is a disposition shown to falsehood and treachery.

A mouth cut straight across the face indicates resolution without delicacy, while a mouth like Cupid's bow shows both refinement and tact. A large mouth means a strong will; a small mouth, a weak character. If the upper lip extends beyond the lower, it shows a weakness of intention; if the lower rests beyond the upper, it expresses arrogance and conceit.

Deaths.

MOORE—Mr. J. H. Moore, who resided on the farm formerly owned by Mr. Ike Wingate, deceased, at Woodlake, died Tuesday night.

KENNEDY—E. J. Parker, the infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kennedy, died Monday and was buried from the Catholic Church Tuesday.

MRS. J. S. JACKSON died at the residence of her husband in Lexington on Friday evening of last week, after a brief illness. Mrs. Jackson was formerly Miss Sallie Hughes, oldest daughter of Mr. W. J. Hughes, of this city. She leaves a husband and two small children, the youngest only a few weeks old, to mourn her loss. The funeral took place Sunday and the remains were interred in the Lexington cemetery.

BULLOCK—Rev. J. J. Bullock, D. D., who was many years ago the pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in this city, also for a number of years the Chaplain in the United States Senate, died Wednesday at the home of his son in Lexington. He was the father of Mr. Cabell Bullock, who was Deputy Insurance Commissioner, both under Mr. Bedford Leslie and Major L. C. Norman. Three other sons and his wife survive.

MOORE—Col. Laban T. Moore, of Catlettsburg, Colonel of the 14th Ky. Infantry in U. S. Army during the war, member of Congress, Judge of the Circuit Court and Representative of his district in the State Senate in the early part of the 80's, and a gentleman who was well known over the State and beloved for his sterling worth wherever known, especially in this city where he has often sojourned for months at a time, died suddenly Wednesday with heart failure. His body will be buried today.

VANDERVEER—Late Saturday afternoon Gen. Ferd VanDerveer, of Hamilton, O., died of apoplexy. He was well advanced in age, and a prominent and well to do citizen of his State. During the war he served in the Federal army with distinction and has ably filled a number of offices of honor and trust. At the time of his death he was Judge of the Common Pleas Court. Mr. J. M. VanDerveer and his brothers and sister, Miss Minnie, and Mrs. John W. Milam, of this city, are a number of the neices and nephews of the deceased.

Two Vestibuled Trains.

The Chesapeake & Ohio Railway have put on two complete new vestibule trains to take the place of those formerly run to and from Louisville and Lexington.

They have also arranged to run the sleeping cars through between Louisville, Lexington and New York without change at Washington. This arrangement will be of great convenience to persons in Central Kentucky as it does away with all changes of cars and depot.

The new trains are beautiful in design and finish and are heated by steam and lighted by electricity, affording every known luxury to the traveler.

An honest Swede tells his story in plain but unmistakable language for the benefit of the public. "One of my children took a severe cold and got the croup. I gave her a teaspoonful of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and in five minutes later I gave her one more. By this time she had to cough up the gathering in her throat. Then she went to sleep and slept good for fifteen minutes. Then she got up and vomited; then she went back to bed and slept good for the remainder of the night. She got the croup the second night and I gave her the same remedy with the same good results. I write this because I thought there might be some one in the same need and not know the true merits of this wonderful medicine." CHARLES A. "The White Slave."

Bartley Campbell's beautiful idyl of antebellum days in the South before President Lincoln had issued his immortal emancipation proclamation and the guns of loyalty and union had shattered the battlements and dogmas of slavery and secession—"The White Slave"—was the attraction at the People's last night, and judging from the demonstration of the large audiences scored a hit that will insure a big business. The White Slave needs no criticism. Its merits are well known and properly produced, there is nothing on the American stage that appeals more strongly to the hearts of the people. Mr. Kennedy's company is a very proficient one. It is headed by a very clever and capable actress, Miss Carrie Radcliffe, who essays the title role. Her work merits the strongest commendation. She is emotional to a high degree, and gives the character of Lisa all the prominence intended by the author without overdoing it. Milt Barlow, the old Minstrel, and Frank Drew, a well known and popular actor, are both with the company, and distinguished themselves by neat work. Messrs. Maurice Drew, as young Britton, and Andy Collom, as Clem, were favorites. The latter's banjo playing was one of the most popular features of the performance. The entire company is exceptionally strong and patrons of the People's this week will see something for their money. The play is well staged, the scene on the cotton plantation being especially fine.—Toledo Blade.

Mr. Chas. Carman, from Petersburg, Ill., writes: "I know Salvation Oil to be a very good remedy for neuralgia, rheumatism, burns, toothache and cuts. We are never without it."

Consumption Cured.

"I believe it to be one of the best medicines sold. The physicians, two years ago, said my wife had consumption, both lungs affected. I have had to send her south for several springs to keep her alive, but since she has been taking Radam's Microbe Killer she has been right at home attending to her business, and is in better health than she has been in 20 years." "R. T. POOLE, Cedartown, Ga."

Several Diseases Cured.

"I cheerfully testify to the curative powers of your medicine. Having been a sufferer from weak lungs, bronchial affection and indigestion, after taking Microbe Killer all of the above symptoms have entirely disappeared." "Yours, etc., THOS. L. DAVIS, Janitor Howard Memorial Library, New Orleans, La."

Asthma and Catarrh Cured.

"I have been a sufferer from asthma and catarrh, for more than two years past, getting most of my sleep sitting up in bed or reclining in a chair. I have used one jug of Radam's Microbe Killer, and for the last three weeks have been sleeping naturally, soundly and sweetly as a child. I attribute my relief to the remedy, and heartily recommend it to any one suffering from asthmatic or catarrhal trouble." "Respectfully, EDWIN R. MOORE, Cashier in Bank of Adairville, Ga."

Fever and Flux Cured.

"I cheerfully testify that after taking Microbe Killer for fifteen days I am entirely cured, after being sick two years with malarial fever, and during which time I contracted other diseases, flux, etc. I was attended during this time by three of the best doctors of the city without being benefited." "WM. DOHERTY, 10 Celeste St., New Orleans, La."
